

Evidence Supporting Writer's Opinion:

1. A principal who rarely used paddling found student behavior to be more disruptive.
2. "Children need well-defined boundaries and need to be taught the consequences for crossing them."
3. Students needing additional training beyond verbal correction may find themselves needing additional trainings resembling an anarchy.

